WHAT OUR GUNS DID TO VERA CRUZ

Because scattered bands and individuals would not cease firing at the Americans in Vera Cruz, Admiral Fletcher was compelled to order that the city be shelled by the warships. This photograph shows how the buildings were battered by the naval guns.

This bit of scenery along the route from Vera Cruz to Mexico City is a fair sample of the kind of mountainous country through which an invading army must make its way from the coast to the capital.

SYNOPSIS

[illegible]

Pembroke calls and Broadway turns around. He looks at her and says, "I'm going to get you." She looks at him and says, "Let's go out this night. I love to work." He looks at her and says, "All right," said Wallace to the boy as soon as they were out of sight.

"Show me the lady!"

"She's over there," inquired Rankin.

"Stay where you are."

Mrs. Gerard came in most hurriedly. Indeed, her gait was almost that of an elderly lady who has preserved, who was very, very anxious about something which she valued highly and was willing to run chances for it.

"Why, Mrs. Gerard," said Wallace heartily. "What are you doing here, Ah, know! You're looking for Joe?"

"No, no, no," said Mrs. Gerard. "He's gone to the station. He's going to make that forty-enority for New York. I think

"Hello, gawd!" he replied. "Hello! Hello!" Yes; I called you up. I'm up here in Connecticut. Oh, no, it's not a mistake. I'm a gawd, I'm a gawd. I got a big contract from the Jones' Pepsin people. They're going in heavy, I hear. I can close this deal right away. What do you think? Well, I'm a gawd, I'm a gawd, I'm a gawd today. They must be all right. I looked them up. . . . Well, will you let me use my own judgment about that? I think I'll make a splendid deal. . . . Say, I'm a gawd, I'm a gawd, I'm a gawd. I've signed me a wile authorizing me to sign this contract? Thanks. . . . I won't be back until tomorrow. . . . Good contract? Thanks. . . . No; I won't be back until tomorrow. Good contract? He hung up the receiver and turned back to Jackson. That youth looked at him in somewhat helpless curiosity. "What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to do it, but not bluffing. I'm going back tomorrow, and, as a starter, I'm going to bill New York till you can't see the city through the advertisements of Jones' Pepsi Gum."

"Where's all the money coming from," said Jackson dubiously. "What are you going to do? Ruin me?"

"I'll draw the contract," Wallace answered. "I'll give you a year to pay for it. You'll be the best advertised article in America a month from now."

"But, great Scott! I can't afford to take a chance like that! I don't know anything about this chewing-gum business."

"Say," said Wallace in decision, "will you give me all you make over a million in the next two years if I give you the advertising free?"

"Over a million? I should say I will!"

Wallace became serious and then broke into smiles. "Siako hands with your partner then. This will be the quickest, softest, and first important moment I ever made."

"Do you mean it?"

"You bet I mean it."

"Are you sure you mean it?"

"You bet I'm sure."

"This is Broadway with real feeling. This is the happiest moment of my life!"

At that instant Sam came in. "Misses Gerard—please—Miss—Gerard—Jones!" he yelled.

That Broadway's happiest moment came to a sudden, tragic end. In the mad whirl of recent hours he had for-

"By Goodness, I'm Awfully Glad to See You!"

ing another speech. He stopped his works instead of going through the "Making another speech!"

They opened the door wide and walked on the gentle breeze, came to them in Broadway's best, most effective tones:

"Why, think of what I'd be doing. The thing my grandfather worked and hand down to me, my father came to father worked for and handed down to me; the thing that I work for and hand down to my son, and so on, and so on, and so on."

CHAPTER XIII.

It was not until the excitement all over at the factory, until the long had died down and the whole had begun to buzz with industry the next afternoon of handler

When I had known late years, that Wallace thought of lunch. He was not usually one to forget eating. It rather startled him.

"Broadway," he remarked, astonished, "but I don't know we haven't fed."

"Do business men."

"That doesn't make good sense. Do business men? We've just done one business. We've had lunch. We've gone back to New York with his disposition in a sling. But what did you think you were expressing when you said: 'Do business men?'"

"I was inquiring if business men took lunch. If they don't, I'll not. I am a business man."

"You bet they do."

"It's his commercial practice I'll join you. It's very enough to eat on Sixth avenue."

"No such luck," said Wallace. "We've got to eat down at the Grand." Broadway almost paled. "Excuse me, please."

The arrival of the young men, The girls followed them.

"Now '— I'll — play — you — another — tune — that — I — made up — for — you —"

The judge looked at his son with that apologetic tolerance with which he usually regarded him. He was not ashamed of him; but he refused to encourage him. He would not create a punishment him. "Keep on practicing, Sammy. You'll get there some day."

Sammy redoubled his slow and steady work. He was not discouraged, undoubtedly, what it was meant to play, but communicating to no one either by the spoken word or any sound he made upon the strings.

"If you're doing it, do it, Sammy," Broadway suggested kindly, "don't overtax yourself. I'm willing you should stop at any time."

"Well," said the good-natured youth, "I—go to practice—anyhow, and keep on, playing."

"I know; but we've simply got to eat."

"They tried the first part of the luncheon, and it was just after they had tried it that Broadway, desperately worrying about the future, was smitten by a happy thought.

"You're at the Grand?" he asked.

"You can't," said Wallace. "It's not living."

"Why anything at the Grand when I'm the owner of a house with 14 rooms, three baths, a root cellar and a photograph?"

Wallace looked at him with an enthusiastic light kindling in his eyes. "Shall you take boarders?"

"I shall take a boarder."

"Me."

"You."

"When?"

Mrs. Spotwood was annoyed. Sam sometimes got upon her nerves and she would go looking for a diversion at that thing here. As Don't was looking up discontentedly at the others except Jackson, she went out the porch steps and into the house.

He sat fingering the strings all heartily for a few seconds, while Broadway watched him earnestly. Then, from the interior, came the youngster's treble.

"Say — keep — that — plano — quiet — will — you? Gosh — shows — how — you — know — about — music! You can hear — the — plano — any — day. There — ain't — ten — good — banjo — players — in — Connecticut."

"You're all right, Sammy," Broadway told him reassuringly. "I don't

"You mean it?"
"Of course."

"Will you, the judge and Clara dine with me?"

"Well, I should say so."

"Tell Mrs. Robinson that I'll be early enough to tell her how extremely fond I am of her before we start to and then I'll bring Bob and—Mrs. Miss Richards."

Mrs. Spotswood laughed. "And who?"

"You mean 'Miss Richards.'"

"Yes—'Miss Jean Josie'?"

"Well, say so, then. She'll be mad if you don't stop calling her 'Miss Richards.'"

Halfway turned from the telephone and faced the maiden of whom they had spoken. "Mrs. Spotswood says you'll come to dinner and that you will be angry if I don't stop calling you 'Miss Josie.' Is she right?"

"She's always right."

Bob and Clara.

know how you stand with the rest of the folks; but you're all right with me."

But the plan was annoying Sam. — ain't going — to — stay — and listen — to — that — darned — old thing. I'm — going — to — take — r — banjo — and — go — home!"

Broadway with the lights left him and went to join his guests with So did Sammy presently, in answer to the pangs of hunger, and they had a most extraordinary dinner. Sam was lacerated after such a trip. He had once more begun to rant, no one wished to hear his banjo, the world was out of joint. He would stay and sanction such mad judgments as he took into his head.

"Gosh!" he muttered. "That's — the — thanks — I — get — for going — to — all the — trouble —

"Then, Josie, will you come to dinner?" I'll have all the boys and girls, including Judge and Mrs. Spatwood," Josie chuckled, "and come," said Josie. And she blushed.

That was not strange, but that Broadway felt himself confused and also blushing was a thing which had not happened since late years. Sammy could not at the moment say a telegram for Wallace. Broadway, who was very happy, as he looked at Josie's cheek (half view, from the back) promptly invited him.

"I — — — then," said the mighty child. — And — I — shall — bring — my — babo."

Broadway did not notice how his sweet young office manager involuntarily shuddered.

It was a pretty evening. The sun was setting in the midst of an extremely gorgeous Turner sky, even if it was on Jacksonville the wondrous color of — bringin' — my — instrument along — and — everything. Some day — they'll — be — darned — glad — to — hear — me — play — when — — — get — it — down — good — and — perfect!"

Sammy was at the gate between high balled posts when a great, low and powerful touring car came and pulled up before them and a lady sat still.

"Excuse me, young man," said the linen-coated gentleman, who, up close inspection, proved to be an elderly, clean-cut New York business man accustomed to commanding.

"Well — what — do — you — want?" was very peevish.

[illegible]

very gravely, "I don't think it's all bad."

Wallace, who had strolled along behind him, arrived in time to hear this. "No, indeed, it was very good."

"It was good?" exclaimed the modest Sam. "I should — say — it — was — good!"

Mrs. Spotswood and the judge, having heard the voices, came out of the house, where they had been awaiting the return of the two men.

"What a fine breakfast!" said the judge, looking at the breakfast brought to one's bed for breakfast; some time, somehow, breakfast has to be cooked. The housekeeper in our town is a homemaker. She has mending to do, and stops to write or preparing a club for the H. G. Lewis to kiss a "buried pick" and make it well. Mrs. Inez's husband

"This is the Jones house, isn't it?"
"Yes."
"That's Mr. Wallace playing the piano, isn't it?"
"Yes - he's - showin' - o-h. He - makes - me - tired."
"Will you kindly tell him there's a gentleman here who'd like to see you?"
"Oh - all - right - yourself - I - ain't - comin' - in - there. They - made - a fool - o' me - once tonight - already!"
His voice rose, and his mother came.

"Sammy, come here!"
He went reluctantly.
"Hav'n't you got any better manners than that? You're saying good night, even if you are too lit-temper to remain all the evening?"
"My-feelin's-are-hurt,"
"Just because you didn't get any money to go to the circus this year."
"Well, if it ain't any better — than it is — last night — I'm goin' to the cent. I'm gettin' tired — of — bein' — bossed — around. I bet — Edison — the — inventor — didn't let — me — go — to — the — circus — when — he — was — a — boy! I'm goin' to take — my banjo — and — live — in — New — Haven!"

The Judge had heard and now joined in the laughter.

his wife at the window. "What's the matter, moon?"

"You, you've spoiled that boy! What he needs is a good spanking."

The judge was not impressed. Sammy often got on his mother's nerves. He rarely did on his. He snarled. Sammy was a tall, slender gentleman in motor car and goggles.

"Who's the stranger?"

"I don't know."

But he was a country woman's good-natured curiosity who left her place by the open window and went out to the porch.

"I beg pardon, but the Wallace, I should like to speak to Mr. Wallace. If you don't mind telling him."

"Won't you come in?"

"Thank you; I'll wait here."

"Shall I give any name, sir?"

"Just say to him that his father is here."

"I gave it to my daughter when she was thirteen years old. She was in school and was a nervous wreck, and she never told me how she felt about it so badly that even the doctor spoke of it. You can publish this letter if you like."—Mrs. RENA BOWMAN, 161 S. 10th Street, Indian, Okla.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out and drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when there is a cure?—Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham, Med. Dept., (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened and answered by a woman who understands and holds in strict confidence.

The Judge and his good wife were taken much aback. So this was the great Wallace, the richest and most powerful man in New York City, perhaps in the United States! "Oh, certainly," said Mrs. Spotswood and vanished behind doors with the joyful and genuine "Hav' n the honor of addressing Mr. Grover Wallace!"

"I am Grover Wallace."

"I'm mighty pleased to meet you, sir. My name is Spotswood—Judge Spotswood."

"Pleased, I'm sure."

"Your son has told me all about you. You have a very fine boy, Mr. Wallace."

"The American woman is very nice and it is good for her to be a nutt gette. It is nice for woman to read nice in America. In Eat-only it is so nice."

HEAL YOUR ITCHING SKIN WITH RESINOL

No matter how long you have been tortured and disfigured by itching, burning, raw or bleeding sores, you can get relief just by putting a little of that wonderful resinol ointment on the sores and the skin. It cures scurfy spots right there! Healing is so quick that your skin will be soothed and gets well so quickly you feel ashamed of the money you threw away on all those useless treatments. Prescribed ointments and doctors for skin diseases are a waste of money.

Resinol ointment and resinol soap also clear away pimples, blackheads and dandruff, and cure itching and burning at the bottom of the neck, and cure itching and burning of the skin by applying resinol.

Most people would know what was meant by the term "bob" speaking of money. But would they be able to tell you what "cob" meant? It is not in similar connection? It was used in police circles in the seventeenth century, for it occurs in a letter from the Earl of Devon to "So my wife gave her a cob, for which she seemed very thankful," printed on the new volume of the "Camden" series, the editor of which gives the information that the word "cob" was used in the sense of which varied from four shillings to as much as six shillings in 1675.—London Chronicle.

When a man is "in the soup" he is not usually "in the swim."

Many an optimist would be a pessimist if things weren't coming his way.

It seems as hard for men to make good laws as it is for laws to make good men.

The most stubborn dispositions seem pliable enough when enlisted on our side.

Putting things off until tomorrow is not such a serious matter if you do them then.

A Pittsburg councilman got $1,000 for his vote and then gave himself away.

We are all more or less people of destiny—but we do not have to take it ready-made.

The man who doesn't get very high up the ladder doesn't get so badly hurt if he falls.

Don't judge by appearances—except when it is to the advantage of the person being judged.

When a man gets a good berth with the government it seems to him like being born again.

The common housefly is presumed to be an ardent believer in the commandment "Thou shalt not kill."

It is better to have a secure footing part way up the ladder than to have a precarious position at the top.

It is especially hard to keep a secret when you know something that would shut off the compliments being paid an undeserving one.

It is sometimes discouraging to have a man say "I know" to everything you tell him, but he beats the man who always says "I don't know."

When a girl gets up in the morning with squashed microbes on her lips, it's a sign some young gentleman called on her the previous evening.

The man who won't do anything and works at it, succeeds oftener than the one who wants to do something and waits for someone else to lead the way.

RUN-DOWN WOMEN

Find Health in a Simple Tonic.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well, strong and healthy as a woman should be? They may not be sick enough to lie in bed—but they are run-down, thin, nervous, tired and dejected.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headache, backache, nervousness and kindred ills.

Such women need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, with out of which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Mrs. Walter Price, Bloxist, Miss. says: "I was in a run-down condition for months. I had taken several medicines but they seemed to do me no good. Finally Vinol was recommended, and from the first bottle I began to improve until I am strong and well as ever."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

A NOTABLE WELCOME

Address to the Retail Liquor Dealers' Convention of Iowa by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of That State.

Gentlemen: A welcome to a city should be representative, and since the welcome accorded your association by the mayor of Cedar Rapids represents the thought of but a portion of its citizenship, it seems fitting that the entire community should communicate to you its sentiment. Hence in behalf of those not represented by the mayor, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union extends this greeting:

It is quite usual in greeting a body to enumerate its accomplishments and tell of its worth and standing. Courtesy to the individual somewhat embarrasses us here. Shall we greet you as those who wreck homes, debauch manhood, prostitute womanhood, disgrace and impoverish childhood? Shall we greet you as those who place upon the tax payer the heaviest burden in caring for the results of your traffic?

Your position in a community is quite peculiar. We fail to find a city that enumerates among its advantages its saloon. The commercial club, our city advertises our manufacturing plants, our churches, our schools and colleges, but never once have the thirty-two saloons of the city been advertised as a reason for industries to locate here.

It is said by some that you help a town. Do you make better fathers, husbands, sons and so raise the standard of citizenship? Do you bring comfort and happiness to mothers, wives and children? Do you add to the efficiency of the laborer or business man, and so add to the material prosperity of the place?

Any business is judged by its results. Some time since Cedar Rapids had a manufacturers' week. Every business in the city gave you exhibited its wares. Yet your ambition is to be classed as a line of legitimate business. The packing house and Quaker oats mills showed their splendid products ready to feed the world. The pump manufacturers and wood finishing concerns exhibited their contributions of comfort and esthetic pleasure. The clothing manufacturers gave evidence of prosperity. Did the saloons of Cedar Rapids use their windows or were those of other places loaned to exhibit their finished products? No, you find these in the penitentiary, where eighty-five per cent. of the inmates are your graduates. Seventy per cent. of the insane are others. Ninety per cent. of pauperism is another class. The great burden of private charity is due to the saloons. The tax payer pays the enormous cost of caring for your product. But only the Father of us all knows all the blight of manhood, the shame of womanhood, the wreck of home, the heart break of the innocent. Ah, no, gentlemen, you are not welcomed to Cedar Rapids by its homes and social interest.

Yours is not a legitimate business, so declared by the United States supreme court. Our stores open at their pleasure, closed only on the day of rest. But in self-defense a community limits you as to times and seasons. If your places of business are so demoralizing that they must be closed on election days and holidays, and so dangerous that they are closed in time of a fire, riot or other occasion of excitement, how can a city welcome you at any time?

It is passing strange that the political power you wield can stultify the official nation, state and city. But it is not long to be so. Not many more times will you be accorded a welcome to any city. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with men and women of sober, earnest purpose, is steadily working for that day when the God of heaven shall say to you, "It is enough." You know, with "the time is near."—Ex-Chance.

PLEASANT WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

Dodson's Liver Tonic Takes the Place of Disagreeable Calomel and its Often Dangerous After-effects.

You probably know that calomel is a poison, a form of mercury, very dangerous to a great many people, and sometimes causing disagreeable after-effects for nearly everyone who tries it.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is recommended as a perfectly safe and reliable remedy to take the place of calomel. This is exactly what it is made for and has been made for ever since the first bottle was put up and sold.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is pretty widely imitated. But be careful to judge between the loud boasts of the imitators and the plain truth of the original.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is sold by W. H. Ellis Co.'s and Lively's drug stores, who will refund purchase price (50c.) instantly with a smile if you are in any way dissatisfied.

Dodson's Liver Tonic is a palatable vegetable liquid. Its action is easy and natural, with no gripe, no pain and the after-effects are pleasant instead of disagreeable. Dodson's Liver Tonic does not interfere with your regular duties, habits and diet, but builds and strengthens instead of weakening you or "knocking you all out" for days. Try Dodson's and feel better and brighter, as thousands have.—Adv.

HON. J. W. OVERSTREET SPOKE IN WAYNESBORO

Large Delegation of Sylvania Folks Accompany Him to the City to Boost His Candidacy for Congress—Address Well Received.

If the loyal support of his home-folks means anything, "Pet" Overstreet could be the next president of the United States if he wished.

Mr. Overstreet is not running for the presidency. He is campaigning for congress from the First district and he came here to address the people of Burke county.

Ten cars of Sylvania folks accompanied him here to boost his candidacy, and at the noon recess of court on Wednesday Mr. Overstreet made his address, which was well received.

Mr. Overstreet is well known to the citizens of Burke county and he has many friends who wish him success in his race. Mr. Overstreet's record is well known and clean. He served the short term in congress after the death of Hon. Rufus E. Lester and made a most creditable showing.

Among the visitors from Sylvania for this occasion were: Messrs. R. W. Nunnally, W. M. Hobbs, A. Behn, T. J. Evans, W. M. Jopling, J. E. Walker, W. K. Harrison, P. E. Kemp, J. C. Overstreet, Sr., L. ## We are Drifting, Boys.

Mr. Editor:

A great deal has been said and written about the high cost of living these days, and some attribute it to one cause and some to another, but it seems to me that anyone who has lived as long as I have, and observed things, can solve the problem, and if you allow me, I will give some of the causes.

We will first take note of the farmers. Twenty-five years ago they raised their own horses. It was a rare thing for a farmer to buy a Kentucky mare, and if he did, one hundred dollars was considered about a fair price to pay for one, but now, horse-raising in our section is almost a thing of the past, and the price of mules now is two hundred to three hundred dollars, and it takes nearly every dollar he can make to pay for his stock at the present prices of farm produce.

And again, farmers used to make their own plow stocks, hoe handles, etc., but now they buy everything. But some say that farm produce is higher now and they can afford to buy everything. This, however, is not true. Twenty-five years ago upland cotton sold for sixteen and eighteen cents, but now it sells at from eight to thirteen cents, corn for one dollar, and syrup for forty cents at best, when it used to sell at fifty and sixty cents. Flour sold for ten dollars per barrel, but now it's much cheaper. So, you see, it's not the food we eat that causes the high cost. It's buying mules and horses and extravagance in dress.

Yes, it's dress, dress, dress. It is very true that most girls—and some older ones, too, for that matter—dress very thinly these days, but they must have a new hat and a dress almost as often as the moon changes. And it gets worse every season. Fashion is the god they worship, regardless of the cost—financially or morally. Some time ago a gentleman showed me a suit of clothes that he had bought for twenty dollars and thought he had struck a bargain. I said to him, "Your mother used to make your clothes and a good suit cost only three or four dollars." "Yes," he replied smiling, knowing it was all true. At another time I was conversing with a friend, and remarked that it takes more to live on these days than it used to in days gone by. "Yes," he said, "and it costs more to die." At first I failed to understand what he meant, but after thinking a little I remembered that if one of your family died you would get a carpenter to make and dress a nice coffin for three or four dollars, but now if one dies you must buy a nice coffin costing forty or fifty dollars and hire a hearse to haul it to the cemetery.

And again, years ago it was a rare thing to send for a doctor except in severe cases, but now if we take the backache or some other simple ailment, we must telephone for the doctor at once.

These are some of the things that contribute to the high cost of living. Thinking people know that this is true.

Yes, we are drifting along with the tide, and there is no telling where or when it will stop. It takes a strong nerve and genuine religion to sit steadily in the boat as the slides along and I fear that many will be capsized in that awful everlasting despair. May the Lord help us.

B. W. DARSEY.

Mr. J. B. Williams, Trenton, Ga., gives a splendid endorsement to a related honest medicine when he says: "I contracted a deep cold and coughed with terrible violence, but Foley's Honey and Tar gave me relief at once, and my cough and cold were soon gone. I prefer it, too, because it contains no opiates." Sold by Bulloch Drug Co.—Adv.

When a man talks about what his neighbors do and brags of what he himself can do, we see at once why the neighbors never criticize anything he does so.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed, it causes the eardrum to become rigid, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result. It is entirely cured by the use of the Eustachian Tube. ## LEM M. PARK FOR STATE TREASURER

Never Before a Candidate for Any Public Office—Salem, Ohio Soldier and Farmer—Ben F. Perry, Chief Clerk.

LEM M. PARK, who has announced his candidacy for Treasurer of the state of Georgia, subject to the Democratic primary on Wednesday, August 19, 1914, is making a personal canvass of the state in an automobile.

Colonel Lem M. Park is the youngest brother of the late Captain Robert E. Park, who was State Treasurer at the time of his death from an old war wound. He was born in Meriwether county, and lived in that and Troup county until recently, when he became a resident of Atlanta.

Colonel Park has farming and other interests in both Meriwether and Troup counties, and is a life member of the State Agricultural Society. For sixteen years he has traveled over Georgia as a salesman for New York houses and will be remembered pleasantly by the older merchants of the state.

What yet but a boy, he left school to enter the Confederate service. He is enthusiastic in his devotion to the "Lost Cause," and never misses an annual U. C. V. reunion, nor any gathering of old soldiers when possible for him to attend. He was captain on the staff of Gen. de Vaughn of Montezuma, a major on the staff of General J. H. Martin of Hawkinsville, and also a major on the staff of General Dyer, port of America, and is now colonel on the staff of the U. C. V. commandant in Georgia.

Colonel Park has never before been a candidate for any public office, but he has been the recipient of his native state asking their vote and influence for State Treasurer, promising faithful, energetic service.

SHERIFF'S SALES

GEORGIA—BULLOCH COUNTY. I will sell at public outcry, to the highest bidder for cash, before the court house door in Statesboro, Ga., on the first Tuesday in May, 1914, within the legal hours of sale, the following described property, levied on under certain tax as issued from the justice court of the 47th G. M. district, Bulloch county, Ga., in favor of J. D. Strickland against James Lane, Jr., and R. O. Lane, levied on as the property of said defendants and in possession of the said James Lane, Jr., to-wit:

One-third undivided interest in one certain tract or parcel of land situated and lying in the 47th G. M. district, said county and state, containing one hundred and twenty acres, more or less, as the James Lane place and bounded as follows: North by lands of J. E. Brannen, east by lands of J. D. Strickland, and M. E. Hagan estate, south by Terrell estate and estate of John Handshaw, and west by John Handshaw estate.

This 28th day of April, 1914.

J. H. DONALDSON,
Sheriff Bulloch Co., Ga.

Georgia—Bulloch County.

Will be sold on the first Tuesday in May, next, at public outcry, at the court house in said county, within the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder for cash, certain property of which the following is a full and complete description: One certain 50-acre power Russell boiler and engine, one No. 3 DeLoach saw rig and edge and cut-off, one lot of belting attached to the same, one certain log-cabin, chains and tools belonging to same.

Said property levied on as the property of Langford & Horne to satisfy an execution issued from the city court of Statesboro of said county in favor of P. E. Million against the said Langford & Horne. Said execution being based upon the foreclosure of a lien for the purchase money of the above described property. For the reason that said property is heavy, unhandy to move, and inconvenient to haul, the same will not be carried to the court house on day of sale, but said property is located in the 123rd G. M. district of said county near the house of W. H. Howell, on lands of Mrs. M. C. Harper, where the same may be examined and inspected by anyone who may wish to bid at said sale.

This 28th day of April, 1914.

J. H. DONALDSON, Sheriff C. C. S.

Seed Pears.

Nice lot Tillman seed pears for sale. G. A. Dekle, R. F. D. No. 1, Register, Ga.

For Sale.

Having moved away and yet being able to look after my property in Statesboro, I offer for sale at bargain three vacant lots in that city, each very desirably located for residential and other purposes. Also one lot in East Side cemetery. For prices and terms communicate directly with me. M. L. Tinley, Box 78, Waynesboro, Ga.

For Solicitor of the City Court.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: I hereby announce myself a candidate for solicitor of the city court of Statesboro, subject to the 1914 democratic primary, held on May 7th, 1914. I am a very credible one under the circumstances. I received about 600 votes and hundreds of others assured me they would support me in 1914. Since I made the last race, people who openly opposed me two years ago have promised me their votes and I promise to discharge the duties thereof without fear or favor, and according to law. I will sincerely appreciate your vote and active support.

Very respectfully,
HOMER C. PARKER.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of solicitor of the city court of Statesboro. I am in this race to the finish. In making this my application to you for said office, I do so realizing fully the importance of the office to the people of Bulloch county. If you give me this office I will always remember that it is your office, and use your public servant, and I promise to discharge the duties thereof without fear or favor, and according to law. I will sincerely appreciate your vote and active support.

Very respectfully,
FRANCIS B. HUNTER.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: Having an ambition to fill the office of solicitor of the city court of Statesboro, I beg to announce my candidacy for this office, subject to the democratic primary to be held on May 7th, 1914. Thinking you for past favors, and hoping I may merit your support in the approaching primary, I am,

Very respectfully,
J. R. ANDERSON.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for Solicitor of the City Court of Statesboro, subject to the 1914 democratic primary, held on May 7th, 1914. Thinking you for past favors, and hoping I may merit your support in the approaching primary, I am,

Very respectfully,
JOHN T. JONES.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: I hereby announce my candidacy for sheriff of Bulloch county, subject to the democratic primary of May 7th, 1914. I am a native son of this county, and I feel it my duty to serve the people of this county as faithfully and to the very best of my ability.

Very respectfully,
B. T. MALLARD.

For Judge of City Court.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of sheriff of Bulloch county, subject to the democratic primary of May 7th, 1914. I solicit your support, fully.

Very respectfully,
W. H. DELOACH.

For Tax Receiver.

To THE VOTERS OF BULLOCH COUNTY: Thanking you for your favors in the past, I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of tax receiver and will appreciate your support in the coming election.

Very respectfully,
J. D. McELVERN.

For Tax Collector.

I announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of tax collector for the city court of Statesboro, subject to the democratic primary of May 7th, 1914. I am a native son of this county, and I feel it my duty to serve the people of this county as faithfully and to the very best of my ability.

Very respectfully,
M. R. AKINS.

For Judge of the Superior Court.

To THE VOTERS OF THE MIDDLE JUDICIAL CIRCUIT: Having a desire to fill the office of judge of the superior court of the Middle judicial circuit, I hereby announce myself a candidate for this office, subject to the next democratic state primary. If elected I shall endeavor to discharge the duties of this high office honestly, impartially and in a businesslike manner, and as rapidly as may be consistent with the proper administration of justice.

Having been constantly engaged in the practice of law for twenty-six years, and having served a term of four years as judge of the city court of Statesboro, I feel that my experience would assist me in the discharge of my duties if elected. I therefore solicit your hearty support in my campaign.

Very respectfully,
H. B. STRANGE.

Lost Notes.

Two notes for the principal sum of $300 each, dated Jan. 1st, 1914, and bearing interest from date, one Jan. 1st, 1916, and the other due Jan. 1st, 1918, given by W. W. Clifton and F. W. Clifton and payable to H. W. Scott, have been lost, and all persons are forewarned not to trade for the same. This the 30th day of March, 1914.

H. W. SCOTT.

MARTIN ENDS LIFE WHILE SICK OF FEVER

Remer Martin, aged about 30 years, one of the best known and most highly respected citizens of the Briarpatch district, died at his home near Ivanhoe at 9 o'clock Saturday night as a result of self-inflicted wounds received at 10 o'clock the day before. Martin's rash act was due to mental aberration while suffering from fever. He had been ill for a week or ten days with typhoid pneumonia and, though his condition was not considered as alarming, his mind wandered at times.

Mr. Martin seemed possessed of the idea that he could not recover, and sent for the notary public and justice of the peace for the purpose of making a will. To these officers he stated that he wished to will his property to his wife and little child. They assured him that it would fall to them in the event of his death without the formality of a will. He then seemed satisfied. A little later he asked his wife to bring something from the dining room, and while she was out he dispatched the other attendants for a drink of water.

It was during their absence that he arose from his bed and reached his pistol in his bureau drawer. Placing the weapon on his heart he fired. The ball passed through his ribs and tore away the flesh of his shoulder, but missed the heart. He fell unconscious and lived till Saturday night.

Mr. Martin was the son of the late Jesse Martin and was a man of exemplary habits. His health is a severe shock to his family and friends.

DeLOACH TO WIN BY BIG MAJORITY CONTRARY CLAIMS MADE TO DECEIVE VOTERS

During the present campaign the TIMES has carefully refrained from taking sides in any contest, realizing that all the candidates for every office are our friends, and that the people are fully capable of discerning for themselves the fitness of those who are to hold public office. In view of the fact, however, that recent studied efforts have been made to mislead the people in regard to conditions, especially in the race for sheriff, we are led to doubt that it is just to our friends for the grossly exaggerated claims by the friends of Mr. Mallard to go unanswered.

The recent published claim that he is to carry nine to eleven districts of the county is so far from accurate that it is exceedingly unkind to the people of the county to allow it to go uncontradicted.

The simple truth is that of the thirteen districts in the county there is no shadow of doubt that DeLoach will carry nine; of this number four will be by such majorities as to amount almost to unanimity. The other five are assured by majorities over his nearest opponent, Mr. Mallard, which will be crushing to their claims. Three districts in the county will probably give majorities against Mr. DeLoach. These are the true conditions in the county as they exist at this time. Reports from every district are more pleasing to the DeLoach following, and even greater majorities will not be surprising.

That the exaggerated claims of the Mallard supporters are not at all sincere is well proven by their own conduct in receding from their recent bold offers to bet on even terms, and then further backing when the odds which they demanded are readily taken by the DeLoach supporters. These conditions are well known to have existed during the past few days.

The efforts to make class strife against DeLoach by claiming his chief opponent to be the candidate of the farmers, is entirely unworthy. Mr. DeLoach was born and reared on a farm and continued to till the soil until his competency won him other coveted positions. He is the candidate of no class, and has no stancher supporters than those sturdy people of Bulloch county who make their honest living by the plow and who come into contact with him daily in the discharge of his duties.

"HER GLOVES" WITNESSED BY A PACKED HOUSE

LOCAL COMPANY PRESENTS PLAY IN MOST PLEASANT MANNER

"Her Gloves," a farce comedy replete with humor and human experiences, was presented by local talent at the school auditorium last Thursday evening, and was witnessed by a packed house. The attendance was the best that has ever been accorded a presentation by home talent, and the door receipts amounted to near $50.

"Her Gloves" is a human nature story of great reality. It deals with a family of mother and daughter who are jealous of their husbands. The husbands are in the real estate business; a most handsome young actress came into the scene when she decided to purchase from the real estate man a seaside home as a birthday present for her husband. She had the real estate man to carry her on their yacht to view the property and requested that they not make known her proposed gift to her husband. They promised. The lady forgot her glove and left it on the yacht, from whence it fell into the hands of the wives of the real estate men. Then the storm broke loose. True to their promise to the actress not to give her away, they invented a fictitious story to account for the presence of the glove. This involved others, and one lie called for another. The actress's husband was also jealous and watched her going and coming on the yacht. He later followed her to the home of the real estate men and cleaned out the house with a pistol. Excitement ran high and three or four divorce cases were started before proper explanations could be made and accepted.

This was the story which "Her Gloves" described. It ran through three acts and there was not a dull moment in the entire play. It is not appropriate to mention especially any of the players; suffice it to say that the play was well rendered.

At the residence of Rev. L. A. McLaughlin, Sunday morning, May 3rd, Mr. Hodges Adams and Miss Sallie Parker were united in marriage. Rev. Mr. McLaughlin officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams are among Statesboro's most popular young people, and are receiving the congratulations of hosts of friends. The bride is the daughter of Mr. O. C. Parker. The groom is an employee of the S. & S. railroad and has made his home here for several years.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of thanking the people of the Pretoria neighborhood and surrounding country who so liberally aided us in the loss of our home which we had the misfortune to lose by fire. We hope to be able to return a deed of kindness to these good people.

BROOKLET HARD HIT BY FIRE SUNDAY A. M.

TWO STORES DESTROYED WITH LOSS OF $3,000 OR MORE

Damage to the extent of $3,000 or more resulted when two stores in the town of Brooklet were destroyed by flames early Sunday morning.

The losers are J. C. and J. B. Lanier, the latter losing his store house and a stock of merchandise valued at about $2,500, while the latter lost a store building valued at about $500. J. C. Lanier carried only about $750 on his building and none on his stock. J. B. Lanier carried some on his building and his loss is slight.

The fire is understood to have originated in the vacant store of J. B. Lanier and extended from that to the J. C. Lanier store. It was discovered about 12 o'clock Saturday night and was so far advanced that it could not be subdued. Those who arrived early on the scene directed their energies to saving what merchandise they could, and several hundred dollars' worth were carried out of the burning building. The store of Cromley Brothers adjoining the Lanier store seemed in imminent danger, and much of their stock was also carried into the streets before it was found to be safe from the flames and the work of rescue suspended.

Card of Thanks.

We, the undersigned, desire to extend our heartfelt thanks and gratitude to the many friends who so kindly aided us during the recent illness of our little son, Garfield. Their kindness will ever have an abiding place in our hearts.

Growing Alfalfa and Vetch.

Judge W. H. Cone has on display in his office in the court house some specimens of alfalfa and vetch grown on the Ivanhoe farms which should be of interest to the farmers of Bulloch county.

The subject of growing these grasses for stock feed has been discussed in the county for several years, and a number of attempts to get a start of them have been more or less failures. In the instance referred to, Judge Cone went to considerable expense in having his seed properly inoculated against disease, and has three acres of alfalfa now ready for cutting, and from which he will make a good yield. Farmers who are interested in the growing of feedstuffs should examine the specimens referred to.
